SCOPE OF THE STUDY

What precipitated this study?

The Heritage Preservation Commission identified a need to reexamine the City's current Heritage Resource Inventory (Inventory) and explore whether additional properties, including non-residential development, should qualify based on adopted criteria for nomination.

The Inventory was created in 1979 and has been updated periodically. The most recent comprehensive study in 2007 included a citywide survey for consideration of new neighborhood districts and individual heritage resources. Two neighborhoods and five properties were identified and further evaluated in 2009; however, none of these properties and neighborhoods were ultimately added to the Inventory. Over the years, through requests by individual property owners, several properties have been approved for removal from the list, once further study determined that they did not meet or were determined to no longer meet the City's standards for heritage designation.

What are the key elements of the study?

Similar to previous Inventory updates, the study would identify potential properties for nomination both by visually surveying the City, and by conducting research to identify locations where prominent members of Sunnyvale's history lived or where significant local historic events may have taken place. Outreach meetings would be conducted with affected and/or interested property owners and business owners. The study would also examine the current list and the appropriateness of the specific designations.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Support. This policy issue merits discussion at the 2019 Study Issues Workshop.

The last citywide survey was conducted 10 years ago. An updated comprehensive study would be needed to further examine the condition of properties within the existing Inventory as well as identify new residential and non-residential properties that could be nominated. With the continual increase of redevelopment and evolving architectural design within the City, a survey of the existing building inventory would help determine whether adequate preservation measures are in place. This is supported by the General Plan Community Character Chapter and its goal and policies to enhance, preserve and protect Sunnyvale's heritage.
