17-0584 Introduction of Accessory Dwelling Unit Study

Assistant Planner Shila Behzadiaria gave a brief verbal presentation on a study staff has begun to consider modifications to the development standards for Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs). This study is part of the 2015-2023 Housing Element Implementation Plan (Program 15) which is scheduled to be completed by the end of 2017. ADUs, also known as granny units, are smaller units, often studios or one-bedrooms, that are separate from the primary residence but on the same lot, and sometimes part of the main structure of the home. ADUs can provide an affordable housing option for some people with relatively minimal impact to single-family neighborhoods.

Ms. Behzadiaria noted that the study was begun in late 2016 due to the City's need to comply with new state legislation. Staff is developing a survey that is scheduled to be published in early June designed to gather input from the community regarding ADUs and their development standards. Two community outreach meetings on this study have been scheduled for June 13, at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., in the City Hall West Conference Room.

She noted that the study findings and alternatives will be brought back to the Commission for a formal public hearing and a recommendation during the July 26 meeting.
